

What is sustainability?

Quantitative Sustainability

Worldviews – foundations – a model of the world

Sustainability is a difficult notion to express across worldviews

We are special

We are not special

Worldviews affect values

Global consensus definition of sustainability

- "Human beings are at the centre of concerns for sustainable development. They are entitled to a healthy and productive life in harmony with nature."
- "The right to development must be fulfilled so as to equitably meet developmental and environmental needs of present and future generations."
- "In order to achieve sustainable development, environmental protection shall constitute an integral part of the development process and cannot be considered in isolation from it."

What is sustainability?

- It is a diverse concept – all have an intrinsic view of this notion but those views differ slightly
- How we understand sustainability depends on our worldviews about the relationship between people and nature
- The challenge: there is not one optimal definition
